NORTHERN METALIC SALES began in the mid-1950s in Dawson Creek – Mile 0 of the now legendary Alaska Highway. There was a certain lure to the region for risk takers and the adventurous. Not only was Mile 0 the original muster point for North American troops in the 1940s, the highway itself was deemed one of the toughest construction feats of the Century. Northern Metallic's founders recognized demand for goods and services along the route and the business was launched and a new metric for service was born. The terrain was often less than friendly but that did not dampen the genuine customer focus that has become synonymous with Northern Metallic.

As access to the North increased so did recognition of the incredible resources in the region. It was in the late 1960s that Bechtel announced that it would be constructing a pulp mill in Grande Prairie for Proctor and Gamble. Jumping at this opportunity and recognizing that Grande Prairie would be the next economic hub, made the move into Alberta the next natural step. In 1969 we opened our doors at the corner of 114th Avenue and 100th Street.

2024 marks the 55th Anniversary of Northern Metallic in Grande Prairie and the beginning of the development of the business in Alberta and across the West. Over the course of those 55 years Northern Metallic has been proud to be home to the industry's finest people, a first class line up of products and services, and most of all... the best customer partners in the business. This really is something to celebrate!
